Global Overview

United States:

The US stock market ended the day with positive results among its main indices. However, this increase was limited by the uncertainty surrounding the state of legislation for tax reduction, driven by the Republican Party, due to its recent delay in resolving the differences between the bills of the Senate and the House bill. In business news, it should be noted the fall of General Electric Co. in -7.17% to its lowest level in more than five years, this is because the company cut its dividends and provided a pessimistic perspective on their earnings for next year. On the commodities side, gold futures closed with modest gains, recovering some of the losses that occurred recently, as investors withdrew from the purchase of shares, which are of greater risk. In the same way, the increase in the prices of 10-year Treasury bonds in the United States caused a fall in yield to 2.391%, which moves inversely to prices, which helped to increase the price of gold, which does not produce a yield.

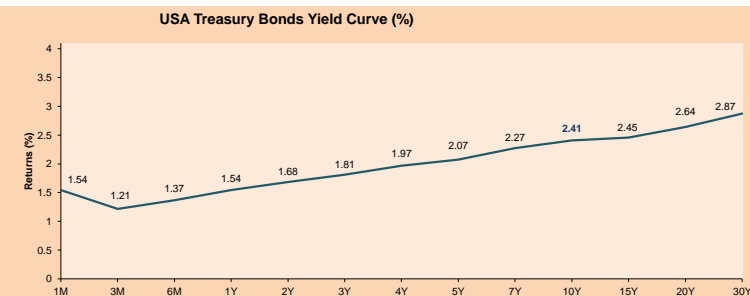

Europe:

The European stock market closed the day with negative results among its main indices. The European benchmark index "Stoxx 600" fell today, dragged by losses in financial and industrial stocks. With respect to the United Kingdom, the pound fell against the dollar, after The Sunday Times reported that 40 legislators in the British parliament had agreed to sign a letter of distrust against Prime Minister Theresa May, the latest sign of confusion in the British government. Only eight more parliamentarians are required to initiate a formal leadership challenge, according to the report. Analysts have said that May's problems on the domestic front make it more difficult for her to strengthen the hand of the United Kingdom in the Brexit talks with the European Union. The UK also faces increasing pressure from Europe, with the planned UK departure from the EU scheduled for March 2019. On Friday, the EU's main Brexit negotiator gave the United Kingdom a two-week deadline to demonstrate that enough progress has been made in a trio of "divorce" issues for the talks to move forward. Regarding the companies, the shares of the French electricity company "Electricite de France" SA fell unexpectedly after the company reduced its financial targets for 2018, since it faces "unfavorable developments" in France and the United Kingdom. EDF said it now expects an EBITDA in 2018 of between 14,600 million euros and 15,300 million euros. The previous objective was at least EUR 15.2 billion.

Asia:

The Asian stock market ended today's session with mixed results among its main indices. The sentiment lowered globally last week amid new concerns about US tax reforms as competing Republican proposals emerged. This could explain why most stock indices in the Asia-Pacific region registered declines today. Among the news that stood out most, in Japan, stocks again had losses, even greater than those of Friday. The Nikkei 225 stock index, after having made gains in the last two months, fell 1.3%, its biggest drop since April, according to FactSet data. Some traders said that this may be due to the fact that investors are only taking profits after the release of economic growth data for the third quarter and the upturns in some markets. The companies that were among the most losses were Toray (-3.9%), fiber manufacturer, and Mitsui Fudson (-4.1%), real estate developer. Regarding Hong Kong, technology stocks, such as AAC (Apple supplier, which rose + 5.8%) and Tencent (+ 0.6%), helped the Hang Seng index to increase by 0.2%. On the other hand, the shares of Southeast Asia and China also had slight increases. Of these, New Zealand stood out, since it was able to reverse the losses and ended upwards.
