Global Overview:

United States:

The U.S. market closed with positive returns for the third consecutive day, during the midterm election vote that will determine control of the U.S. Congress, with investors betting on a political stalemate that could prevent major policy changes. The DOW JONES index closed with gains this session, supported by shares of drugmaker Amgen Inc. which rose nearly 6% to an all-time high after the company will report positive data related to its cholesterol drug and obesity treatment. The S&P 500 index also ended with positive performance, in a context where recent data suggests that Republicans gained ground, and analysts anticipate a divided government, with the GOP likely to win the House and possibly the Senate, thus putting a brake on the Democratic policy agenda. On the monetary policy side, eyes are on October inflation data due Thursday to see how far the Fed can tighten financial conditions in its attempt to cool an overheated economy. Finally, the NASDAQ index ended the day higher. SolarEdge Technologies was the top gainer, up more than 18%, after announcing record earnings in its latest quarter. On the other hand, Kohl's shares rose more than 10% after the department store chain announced the departure of its CEO next month. Thus, DOW JONES +1.02%, S&P 500 +0.56% and NASDAQ +0.49% ended the day with positive results.

Europe:

The main European indices ended the session with positive performances. The pan-European STOXX 600 index closed higher, with the technology sector being the best performer and with most stock markets in the green. Investors are keeping an eye on the US elections as a majority represented by the Republicans means more support for oil and gas companies. The British market, reflected in the FTSE 100, ended with gains this session. This recovery was mostly in the utilities and industrials sectors, which offset losses in the energy sector. Investors are awaiting the US CPI on Friday. On the other hand, the DAX index closed with positive performances, in a context where oil and gas prices fell more than 1.5%. Also, investors are watching the U.S. election results as new outbreaks of COVID-19 in China are countering optimism about a possible economic reopening. Finally, the French market closed higher as risk sentiment improved on optimism about the U.S. mid-term elections and the U.S. CPI report. Gains were led mostly by corporate earnings and retail sales data from the area. Top performers included STMicroelectronics with over 4.4%, Capgemini with 3.5% and Dassault Systems with 3.1%. Thus, FTSE 100 +0.08%; CAC 40 +0.39%; DAX +1.15%; STOXX 600 +0.78% ended at positive levels.

Asia:

Major Asian indices closed with mostly positive returns, following an increase in Covid-19 cases in China. The Chinese market ended with negative returns. Furthermore, the Wall Street Journal reported that Chinese leaders are considering removing 100% pandemic restrictions, but at a slow pace and without a set timeline. In line, the Hang Seng index closed with losses; with healthcare, consumer staples and semiconductor companies the worst performers declining between 1% and 1.5%. The South Korean market ended with positive returns following Wall Street's overnight gains, led by heavyweight stocks such as Samsung up +2.66% and its peer SK Hynix up 1.39%, while LG advanced 0.17%. In addition, the won gained against the dollar ahead of the US mid-term elections. The Japanese market closed higher thanks to overnight gains on Wall Street led by technology stocks. Firms such as Tokyo Electron, KDDI and Advantest rose 3.3%, 1.48% and 2.96%, respectively. SoftBank jumped 9.47% and was the biggest mover for the index. In contrast, Toshiba fell 1.82% after a report that Japan Industrial Partners submitted a bid to buy its conglomerate. The Australian market ended with positive returns. Financial stocks led the gainers with the big four leading the way between 0.3% and 2%. The mining sector rose by 0.2%, while medicals rose by 1%. On the other hand, domestic consumption slumped due to interest rate hikes and rising inflation. Thus, NIKKEI +1.25%; HANG SENG -0.23%; CSI 300 -0.69%; S&P/ASX 200 +0.36%; KOSPI +1.15%, SHANGHAI COMPOSITE -0.43% ended with mixed performances.
