Global Overview

United States:

The US stock market ended the day with negative results, due to the disappointing Senate tax proposal delay a cut in the corporate rate from 35% to 20% until 2019, contrary to the expectations of President Donald Trump of an immediate reduction of corporate taxes and disappointing investors who are already skeptical that the legislation will be passed this year. In addition, the president of the Cleveland Fed, Loretta Mester, reported in an interview with CNBC that the Federal Reserve does not take into account the tax bill in its monetary policy forecasts because it is not yet clear what will be included and what will not be included. In addition, the draft tax law drafted by Republicans in the House of Representatives would increase the US deficit. UU in 300 billion dollars more than legislators estimated, said the Congress Budget Office on Wednesday. And for a decade, it would increase the deficit by $ 1.7 trillion, beyond the $ 1.5 trillion required to comply with the Senate's rules according to the recently approved budget. Finally, in macroeconomic news, weekly jobless claims for the week ended November 4 increased by 10,000 to 239,000, but the most stable monthly average for claims declined by 1,250 to 231,250 to the lowest level since March 1973.

Europe:

The European stock market closed the day with negative results among its main indices. The European benchmark "Stoxx 600" had its biggest daily loss in nearly four months, as a sell-off accelerated in the morning after US stocks opened at a loss. Looking at 78% of the Stoxx 600 companies that have delivered results, it can be said that the growth in earnings per share has slowed down, according to a Deutsche Bank research. The growth was 7.6% in the third quarter, compared to 26% for the first quarter and 18% in the second quarter. In addition, the proportion of companies that exceed profit expectations is 51%, the lowest since the fourth quarter of 2015, said the bank's analysts. Regarding the companies, Burberry Group PLC said it does not expect sales growth until the fiscal year 2021, which would cause a collapse of the shares and undermining the magnitude of the change that should design its new CEO, even when the manufacturer reported higher Half-yearly earnings. Shares fell 9% in the morning, as investors ignored the strong results of the first half to focus on the long-term outlook. Regarding the eurozone, its economy is on track to grow at its fastest pace in a decade, boosted by job creation, increased investment and declining debt, the European Commission said. The EU body expects gross domestic product to grow 2.2% in 2017, surpassing its 1.7% forecast in the spring.

Asia:

The Asian stock market ended today's session with positive results among its main indices. This was due to the fact that the Japanese market started opened strong, making its Nikkei 225 benchmark to grow by 1.8%, reaching the 23,000 level for the first time since January 1992. But finally, this gain was only of 0.2 % at the close of the day. Regarding China, economic data was published that reported that inflation in October was higher than expected. This helped investor sentiment because, according to some economists, this reflects a firmer global demand. But despite this fact, the movements of Chinese stocks remained unchanged because investors continue to conduct cautious negotiations. As a result, the Hong Kong Hang Seng benchmark index increased by 0.8%. Another country benefited by the Chinese inflation data was Australia, since China is its largest export market. Thus, as Chinese iron ore futures rose by 2%, shares of Australian mining companies Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton had gains of almost 1% each. On the other hand, in New Zealand, stocks continued to lag behind, causing the NZX 50 index to decrease 0.2%.
