Global Overview:

United States:

The US markets ended the day with positive results, influenced by expectations in technological shares, small capitalization shares and stimulus plans of the central bank and trade negotiations. Information technology shares stabilized, and got up 1% after 3 sessions of losses in a row. In the same way, small capitalization shares also recovered, being the most important development of this week, currently. Meanwhile, US Treasury prices were under pressure, increasing yields, after an August rebound. This rebound reflects the reduction of concerns about the trade war, at least for now, as new talks are prepared in early October. Something that also improved market sentiment was China's decision to exempt some products from import tariffs. Livewise, investors are awalting a possible interest rate for the European Central Bank this Thursday. Finally, President D. Trump again pressured the Fed to reduce interest rates. Thus, DIIA + 0.85%, S&P 500 + 0.72%, Nasdaq Composite + 1.06% had gains, among other indexes.

Europe:

The European market closed the day with its main indexes with positive returns due to an improvement in the relationship between the US. and China, after the latter eliminated some tariffs as a sign that it is willing to end the trade conflict, on the other hand, the market expects the ECB to apply renewed economic stimulus measures. The STOXX 600 index rose +0.85%, driven by the good performance of the London Stock Exchange share (+5.91%) to a record high, because Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing (+0.33%) announced that it plans to buy to the company for a total of 39 billion dollars. On the other hand, the shares of the microchip sector had a positive result, Dialog Semiconductor (+1.79%) or Siltronic (+1.97%) for example, thanks to the launch of the new lphone 11, which has received positive reviews from the analysts Finally, the market remains enthusiastic about the meeting that will be held tomorrow by the ECB, with a decrease in the interest rate and the resumption of asset purchase plans as expected stimulus measures, in a context of slowdown of the economy of Germany.

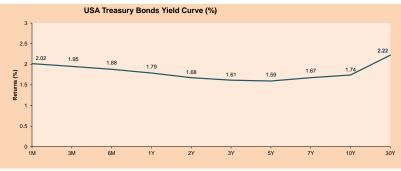

Asia

ASIG:

The Asian market closed the session with mix results. The main indexes, such as the Nikkei 225, Hang Seng and ASX, had a yield of + 0.96%, + 1.78% and + 0.36% respectively.

On the other hand, the main price indices in China had negative behaviors. The producer price index fell 0.8% and the consumer price index rose 2.8% compared to its August values last year. This was reflected in the increase in the price of pork in China, which shot up 46.7% year-on-year in August amid a prolonged outbreak of swine fever. China National Petroleum Corp (CNPC), one of the main buyers of Venezuelan oil, will skip shipments for the second monthle seeking to avoid violating the sanctions imposed by the United States. The head of the Hong Kong executive branch, Carrie Lam, expressed her discomfort related to Washington's intervention towards Beijing.In other news, the government has just approved a series of measures for consumption. The commercial war with the US has affected the economic growth of the country, the IMF will be 6.2% one tenth of a point less than the initial forcests, being the weakest in three decades. On the other hand, the companies with the best returns of the day were Fukuoka Financial Group INC (+6.67%) and Concordia Financial Group Ltd (+6.33%) in the Nikkei 225 and New Hope Corp (+8.55%) and Unibail-Rodamco-Westfield (+6.87%) by the ASX index.
