United States:

The US market closed with positive returns. The DOW JONES ended in the green as traders increased bets on more interest rate cuts this year following disappointing consumer confidence data, which fell to its lowest level in over three years. Fed officials, including Austan Goolsbee, indicated the need for more rate cuts, possibly focusing on the labor market. The S&P 500 also finished positive, reaching a new record driven by increased optimism in the market due to higher chances of interest rate cuts this year. Lastly, the NASDAQ ended the day in the green, with Nvidia shares surging following reports that its CEO had stopped selling shares. Estée Lauder (6.11%) and Chinese stocks like Alibaba (7.9%) and JD.com (13.9%) rallied after China announced aggressive stimulus measures to boost growth. Thus, DOW JONES +0.20%, S&P 500 +0.25%, NASDAQ +0.56%, with the market posting positive returns.

Europe:

The main European indexes closed with positive performances. The pan-European STOXX 600 index closed with gains, after the People's Bank of China announced measures to boost its economy. In addition, weak data raised expectations that the ECB will ease monetary policy to support the struggling European economy. China-linked stocks also rose, with Antofagasta gaining 7%. Other mining companies such as Anglo-American, Glencore and Rio Tinto rose more than 4%. In the UK market, the FTSE index closed the session in positive territory, as investors continued to watch the political maneuverings of the new Labour government following key speeches, although the statements elicited limited market reactions. Similarly, the German market closed in the green, reflecting positive global sentiment driven by the latest efforts by the People's Bank of China to boost its economy with a major stimulus package. The automotive sector was among the most bullish: BMW (3.6%), Porsche AG (2.1%), Daimler Truck Holding AG (1.8%), Volkswagen (1.8%) and Mercedes-Benz (1.4%). In the French market, the session closed in the green. The rally was driven by strength in the luxury sector, after China, a crucial market for the se brands, announced a broad economic stimulus package. LVMH rose 3%, Hermès jumped 4.3% and Kering advanced 3.3%. ArcelorMittal also performed well, up 4.9%, while L'Oréal gained 3.8%. Thus, STOXX 600 +0.65%; FTSE 100 +0.28%; DAX +0.80%; CAC 40 +1.28% closed with positive performances.

Asia:

The main Asian indices closed with positive performances. The Chinese market closed in positive territory, movements driven by easing measures announced by the Chinese central bank. The governor of the People's Bank of China, Pan Gongsheng, reported that the reserve requirement ratio will be reduced by 50 basis points before the end of the year, although no precise date was given. He also mentioned the intention to lower key interest rates, such as the seven-day repo rate and prime lending rates. The South Korean market closed positive. The rise was driven by chip and battery stocks, as well as a rally on Wall Street following the Federal Reserve's rate cut. Samsung Electronics rose 1.1% and SK Hynix rose 0.7%, reversing early losses. Investors are awaiting US PCE inflation data, which could influence global monetary policy. On the other hand, the Hang Seng Index is in positive territory, boosted by further stimulus measures from the People's Bank of China. These included a 50 basis point cut in the reserve requirement ratio, reductions in interest rates and down payment requirements for second homes. The Japanese market also closed in positive territory. Domestically, Bank of Japan Governor Kazuo Ueda noted that there is time to assess the economy before making changes to monetary policy, suggesting that there is no urgency to raise rates. Although manufacturing in Japan contracted in September, the service sector showed growth. Among the top performers were Mitsubishi Heavy Industries (4.3%), Hitachi (5%) and SoftBank Group (1.3%). The Australian market ended positive, boosted by the Reserve Bank of Australia's (RBA) firm stance and further stimulus costs from China. The RBA kept rates unchanged in September, but signaled that borrowing costs will remain at 12-year highs to achieve its disinflation target. Thus, NIKKEI +0.57%; HANG SENG +4.13%; CSI 300 +4.33%; S&P/ASX 200 +0.13%; KOPI +1.14%; SHANGHAI COMPOSITE +4.15% ended with mixed performances.
