United States:

The US market closed with positive results. The DOW JONES index closed with a positive result, given the favorable corporate results together with encouraging economic data. Among the top gainers was Mircron Technology (+14.7%) following a gain in the semiconductor sector. On the other hand, weekly jobless claims declined achieving favorable results with respect to market resilience. This data helps to ease concerns that the Federal Reserve will aggressively cut rates to address a recession. The S&P 500 index closed in positive territory following U.S. economic data, which revealed a solid 3% GDP, leading to fewer worries about the possibility of an economic recession. Finally, the NASDAQ ended in positive territory, driven by, among other factors, the renewal of Chinese stimulus measures on metals prices, as evidenced by its commitment to implement the necessary fiscal spending. This boosted copper companies such as Freeport-McMoRan. Thus, DOW JONES 0.62%, S&P 500 +0.42%, NASDAQ +0.60% with the market having positive returns.

Europe:

Major European indices ended the session with positive returns. The pan-European STOXX 600 index closed higher on Thursday, supported by sectors with higher exposure to China, after the world's second largest economy announced new economic aid to boost consumer demand. The auto sector also benefited from the move, extending its volatile week with Mercedes and BMW adding nearly 4% each. Meanwhile, UniCredit led the banking sector with a rise of close to 5% ahead of its first meeting with Commerzbank following its recent buyout. The UK market, reflected in the FTSE 100, closed with positive results. Mining stocks rose by 4.5% on the rebound in copper prices, while oil and gas stocks fell by 4.3% on the sharp decline in crude oil prices. Shell and BP were among the biggest losers, with declines of more than 4%. Burberry led the gains, rising more than 8% on hopes of renewed Chinese demand. The German market, reflected in the DAX index, closed in positive territory, reaching record highs on the back of a broad-based rally in equity markets around the world. The technology sector was the biggest gainer, boosted by strong sales and earnings forecasts from Micron Technology. SAP (+1.3%) rebounded, after falling nearly 2.4% in the previous session. The French market closed the session in the green. Luxury giants LVMH, Hermès and Kering rose by 9.5%, 9.1% and 9.4%, respectively, on expectations of increased demand in their key market, China. Other strong performers were L'Oréal, Pernod Ricard and ArcelorMittal, which rose between 4.7% and 6.7%. Thus, FTSE 100 +0.20%; CAC 40 +2.23%; DAX +1.69%; STOXX 600 +1.25% ended with positive performances.

Asia:

The major Asian indices closed with positive returns. The Chinese market ended in the green, reaching its highest levels in nearly three months after top Chinese officials pledged to step up fiscal and monetary support measures to achieve growth targets. The rally was also boosted by news that Beijing was considering injecting up to 1 trillion yuan into the largest state banks to stimulate economic activity. Meanwhile, in the Hong Kong market, the Hang Seng index ended with gains as China's top leaders, including President Xi Jinping, committed to achieving the 2024 growth target and stopping the decline in the housing market. The real estate index rose nearly 7%, and the tech sector climbed 7.3% following strong sales and earnings forecasts from Micron Tech. The South Korean market closed with positive returns, marking its largest daily gain since early August and closing at its highest level in more than three weeks. The rally was driven by gains across nearly all sectors, led by chipmakers, following a surge in US-based Micron Technology share after a strong quarterly earnings report. In Japan, the Nikkei index closed with gains, hitting more than three-week high amid a global rally in equity markets. These movements came after an upbeat earnings report from US chipmaker Micron Technology and news of further stimulus from Beijing, which lifted global market sentiment. The Australian market ended in the green, breaking a three-day losing streak, with major iron ore miners leading the recovery due to reports of additional stimulus in China, its main trading partner, which improved market sentiment. Thus, NIKKEI +2.79%; HANG SENG +4.16%; CSI 300 +4.23%; S&P/ASX 200 +0.95%; KOSPI +2.90%; SHANGHAI COMPOSITE +3.61% all ended with positive returns.
