United States:

The US market closed with positive results. The DOW JONES index closed with positive results, resisting falls in large-cap technology stocks thanks to gains in small-caps and financial stocks driven by solid earnings. The S&P 500 index closed in positive territory, with utilities and financials outperforming, while communication services and consumer staples lagged. Traders continue to focus on corporate results: Morgan Stanley gained 6.5% after the company's earnings and revenue beat estimates. In addition, Abbott added 1.5% as its quarterly results were slightly stronger than expected. Finally, the NASDAQ ended in the green. Megacaps such as Apple (-0.9%), Microsoft (-0.6%), Amazon (-0.4%), Meta (-1.7%) and Alphabet (-0.2%) were mostly in the red as traders shifted their attention to smaller companies. Nvidia rebounded 3.1% after a 4.5% drop the previous day, boosted by ASML's reduced sales forecast. Thus, DOW JONES +0.79%, S&P 500 +0.47%, NASDAQ +0.28% with the market having positive returns.

Europe:

The main European indices closed with negative performances given the poor results of large Eurozone companies. On the corporate front ASML plunged 5.1% following a disappointing sales forecast, and LVMH fell 3.7% due to a drop in revenues, the first since the pandemic, reflecting weaker demand in China. In addition, Hermes, Kering and L'Oréal also recorded declines following a negative report from JPMorgan. The UK market, reflected in the FTSE 100, closed higher on lower-than-expected UK inflation, raising the possibility of rate cuts by the Bank of England. In addition, inflation fell to 1.7% in September, below the 1.9% forecast, marking the first time in more than three years that it has fallen below the 2% target. On the other hand, the pound fell below 1.30 USD, and the yield on the 10-year bond declined. Rate-sensitive sectors, such as construction, real estate and banks, rose, while insurers fell more than 2% following a financial market review. Similarly, the German market closed in negative territory, while caution was evident in the European market in the face of new corporate results. The most affected sectors were luxury and technology, including LVMH and ASML. Finally, the main index of the Paris Stock Exchange closed in negative territory, due to falls in the luxury sector. On the corporate side, LVMH led the decline with a 3.7% plunge after reporting a 3% drop in its third quarter sales. In addition, the market awaits the ECB's monetary policy decision, anticipating a 25 basis point cut. Thus, FTSE 100 +0.97%; CAC 40 -0.40%; DAX -0.27%; STOXX X 600 -0.19% ended with positive performances.

Asia:

The main Asian indices closed with negative performances. The Chinese market closed negative as investors awaited a series of key economic indicators later this week, such as GDP, retail sales and industrial production figures. Chinese stocks came under pressure this week as the country's fiscal stimulus plan failed to allay market concerns about a slowing economy. Top losers included Contemporary Amperex (-3.1%), Kweichow Moutai (-2%) and Citic Securities (-1.2%). The South Korean market closed negative. Index heavyweight Samsung Electronics gave up 2.1%, while its counterpart SK Hynix fell 2.2%, amid a global slowdown in demand. Other notable losses were recorded among healthcare stocks, such as Samsung Biologics (-2.2%) and Celtrion (-2.1%). In Japan, the Nikkei index closed with losses. At the national level, Seiji Adachi, a member of the Board of the Bank of Japan, stated that the conditions are now in place to normalize monetary policy, but stressed that the central bank must raise interest rates at a "very moderate" pace. Technology stocks led the declines, with heavy losses for Lattice (+13.4%), Tokyo Electron (-9.2%), Disco Corp (-5.8%), SoftBank Group (-4%) and Hitachi (-2%). The Australian market ended its session in negative territory. Domestically, Reserve Bank of Australia Deputy Governor Sarah Hunter warned that the central bank remains committed to keeping inflation under control amid persistent upward price pressures. Top losers included BHP Group (-1.1%), Pilbara Minerals (-3.6%), Santos (-2.1%), Mineral Resources (-2.3%) and Viva Energy (-0.7%). In summary, NIKKEI -1.83%; HANG SENG -0.16%; CSI 300 -0.63%; S&P/ASX 200 -0.40%; KOSPI -0.88%; SHANGHAI COMPOSITE +0.05% ended with negative returns.
