Global Overview

United States:

The US stock market finished the day with slightly positive results with the exception of the Nasdaq index. On the other hand, core inflation slipped 0.2% in April, according to data on Thursday, below the expected 0.3%, the main drivers of price growth were fuel and rental rates, but were compensated in largely by the flat prices in health care. In business news, Google's parent company Alphabet is in talks to invest in Indian e-commerce company Flipkart with Walmart. In addition, Walmart announced on Tuesday it would take a 77% stake in the company for $ 16 billion. Of those $ 16 billion, $ 2 billion were "new capital funds", meant to stimulate growth, in addition, Walmart said it was also in talks with "additional potential investors" to join the round, however it would retain the Most property did not mention any possible investor by name. Finally, the dollar stabilized, leaving it almost unchanged during the week, while 10-year Treasury yields ranged below 3%.

Europe:

The European stock market closed the session with mixed results among its main indices. The Stoxx Europe 600 index closed the session with gains of + 0.11% and the European Pan index managed to accumulate an increase of + 1.40% during the week, matching a series of seven-week advances that ended in March 2015. For its part, the Italian index managed to recover, increasing + 0.52%, after the fall of yesterday caused by the proposed coalition between the extreme right League and the populist movement 5 Stars. The interest rate of the 10-year Italian government bond has been increasing in recent weeks as a result of political tension, however, that rate fell -2.91% on Friday. Also, the British FTSE 100 index was driven (+ 0.31%) by the decline of the pound sterling which helps British multinational companies that obtain their income from abroad. The depreciation of the pound sterling has been triggered in part by the decision of the Central Bank of England to keep rates stable. Among the sectors that led the British rebound, the mining sector stands out with the Randgold Resources company, which rose + 3.81% on the day.

Asia:

The Asian market closed the session with negative results among its main indices. The financial sector was the most affected due to investor's concern about an environment of rising interest rates. It would be expected that the Federal Reserve raise the interest rate gradually. Shares of major banks in Hong Kong and South Korea fell on Friday, as is the case with Standard Chartered and HSBC. The latter has reported an increase in costs in the first quarter. Some analysts, such as Oriano Lizza, CMC Markets' sales operator, attribute the declines in Hong Kong's indexes to nervous investment flows in China, concerns about the trade tension between the United States and China, which could divert money from China destined to invest in initial public offerings in the continent. Likewise, the Hang Seng index (HSI) closed at -1.28%, its sixth drop in the last nine trading days. In business news, Ping An Healthcare's IPO of $ 1.1 billion closed the day without incident (0.00%), the fall of Samsung Electronics (-2.08%) dragged down the Korean SEU index (-1.04%), the financial sector of Singapore also remained under pressure dragging the STI index (-0.85%). Regarding Japan, its market remained closed for vacations.
