Global Overview: United States:

US markets closed today's session with positive returns, driven by developments regarding fiscal stimulus after Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer said Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell agreed to reactivate talks to develop a new tax relief package. Record numbers of infections have caused COVID hospitalizations to skyrocket by 50% and have caused schools and businesses to close once again, thwarting the recovery of the world's largest economy from the deepest recession since the Great Depression. During the session, rising COVID-19 infection rates steered investors toward market-leading growth stocks that have shown resilience to the pandemic, thus, of the top 11 sectors in the S&P 500, the energy index SPNY + 1.53% and SPLRCT technology + 0.84% were the ones that grew the most. In corporate stocks, L Brands Inc rose +17.70% after posting better-terity results and a 56% increase in same-store sales, while Tesla held up for the third day in a row at +2.60%. Thus, the main indexes S&P 500 + 0.39%, DJIA + 0.15% and NASDAQ + 0.87% closed higher.

Europe:

European markets ended today's session with negative variations, as fears of the resurge and closure reignite, leaving behind the encouraging news about the vaccine. In the STOX 500, travel and leisure stocks were the biggest losers, declining 1.7%. Sentiment was not elevated despite reports of the vaccine produced by the University of Oxford and AstraZeneca showing that it is afe and triggers a similar immune response among all adults. The news of authorities seeking to re-impose stay-at-home orders, curfews and public safety measures, such as the closure of non-essential businesses in some cities, weighed more heavily on investors, according to CNRC. It is feared that if the authorities fail to stop the spread of the virus, widespread containment will have to be re-imposed. On the other hand, Christine Largarde, president of the European Central Bank, announced that it is very possible that inflated and will continue to be negative until the beginning of 2021. Thus, the STOXX 600-0.75%, CAC 40-0.67%, DAX - 0.88%, FTSE 100-0.8% and FTSE MIB-0.4% finished with a negative sign, among other indices.

Asia:

Asian markets closed today's session with mixed results as new daily contagion records are hit, fueling investor uncertainty. Japan reached an all-time high of 2,179 daily coronavirus infections amid a worrying increase in the number of cases in a country that would have escaped the worst of the pandemic and is planning tor un the Olympics next year. This last factor is a potential risk and would concern investors. On the other hand, in China, shares closed higher, led by the consumer sector. According to a report by the state broadcaster CCTV, citing a meeting of the country's cabinet, China will espand automobile consumption and consumption in rural areas. Added to this, President Xi Jinping declared that tariffs will continue to be reduced and imports of high-quality goods and services will continue to be expanded. In corporate matters, in Australia, financial stocks extended their gains to the fourth day and reached their highest level in more than eight months, with "Big Four" bank rising between 12% and 2.3%. Thus, the main indexes Nikkel 225 -0.36%, Hang Seng -0.71%, ASX 200 + 0.19%, CSI 300 + 0.74% and Shanghai Composite + 0.47% closed with mixed results.
